

Antique & Reclaimed Lumber & Beams

Mason's Mill and Lumber is a supplier of antique and reclaimed pine and hardwood lumber. These items are generally sought after for their aesthetic appeal and recycling aspect.

Antique lumber and beams do not adhere to any specific or established grading rules or governing body guidelines. Therefore, any natural and manmade defects or characteristics are allowed in this product. The natural characteristics may include knots, splits and surface checks. The manmade characteristics may include nail holes, bolt holes, conduit holes and joinery cuts.

Mason's Mill and Lumber endeavors to supply the highest quality antique beams and lumber, and keep the aforementioned characteristics to a minimum. However, you can expect to find some of these in any order consisting of large quantities or larger dimensions, such as timbers and beams. All beams you buy from Mason's Mill and Lumber will be sound and structurally intact.

These characteristics are what make these antique woods so attractive, and it is not realistic to anticipate antique woods to be clear or free of any characteristics. Therefore, all sales of Antique woods, including millwork and beams, are final. We cannot be responsible for antique woods or beams not meeting one's aesthetic expectations as long as the material meets the dimensional and reclaimed criteria herein and as documented via sales order and confirmation.
